A Message To My Senior Class

You, the members of the Class of 1950, have completed your high school education at the beginning of the second half of the twentieth century. These next fifty years which lie ahead of you will indeed be a momentous period. Probably never before in the annals of history has the world been confronted with such a multiplicity of social, economic, and political problems.

Your first reaction to this might well be that of discouragement, confusion, and bewilderment. Yet the one comforting thought is that all these problems are man made. Therefore, as such, they are solvable by man, especially if those in key positions seek divine help for guidance, wisdom, discretion, and sound judgment.

Those of the older generation may falter, but the youthful generation with its natural buoyancy, hope, determination, and perseverance should successfully meet the challenge. With our ever increasing life span, most of you graduates of 1950 will be spared to witness the advent of a new century. Let us hope that from your individual and collective efforts, you will then enjoy living in a better and happier world!

Foreword

WE of this year's Gothic Staff have done our utmost to give you, The Class of 1950, a year book of which you may justly be proud. We have tried to produce a record, more visual than literary, of your activities and school life during these past three years. A few liberties have been taken with the plan and design of this book, in order that the graduating class of the half century might be able to have an original year book, a year book differing from any of those that precede it. We sincerely hope that you will enjoy looking through your year book, both now and in the years to come, and that you will recall with deep pride and pleasure your Senior Year at Brighton High School.

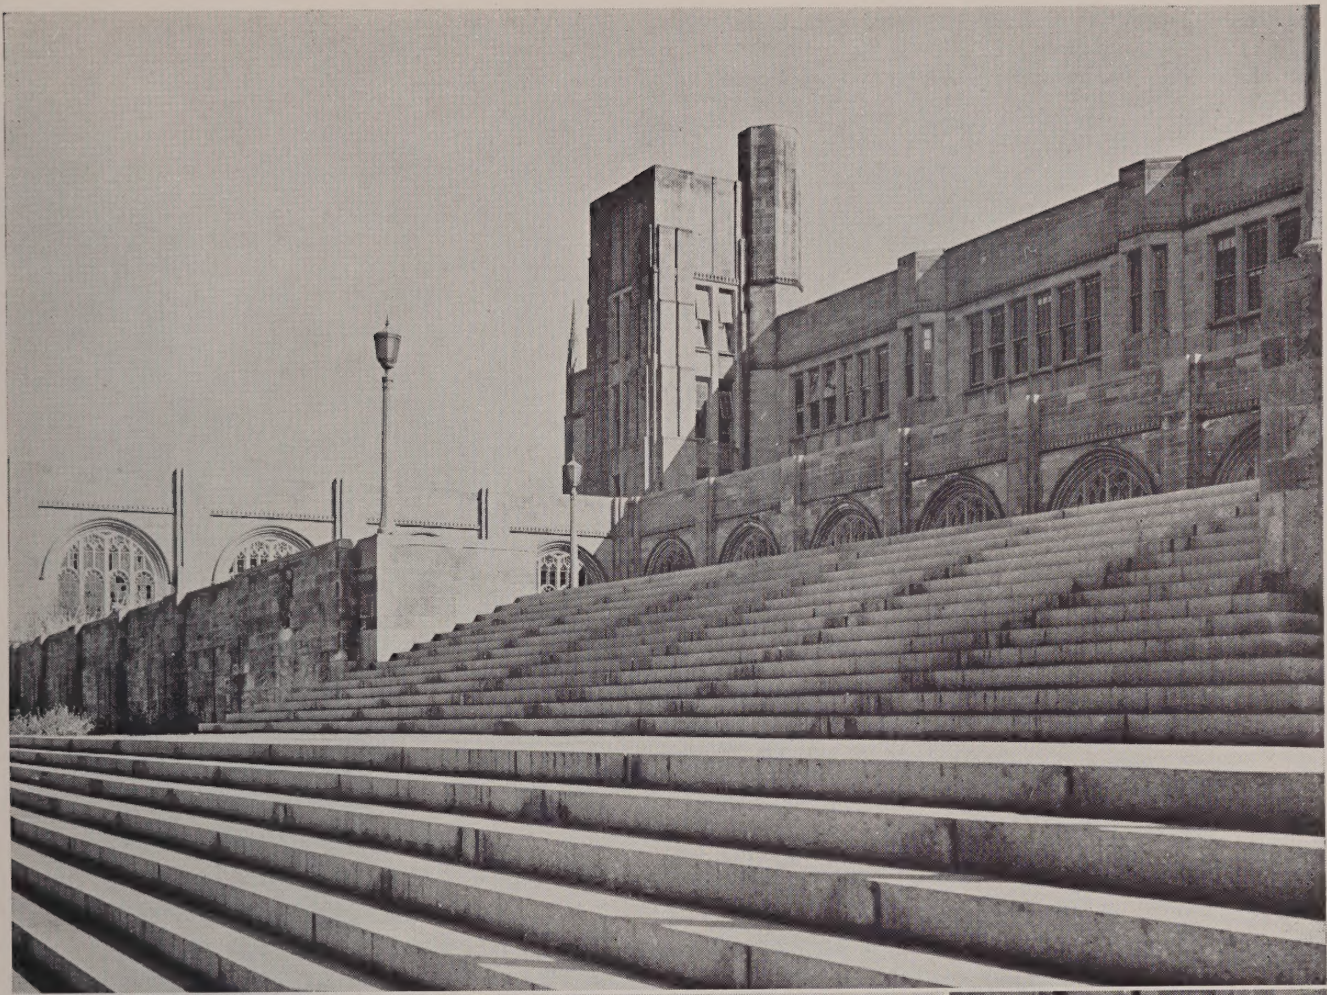
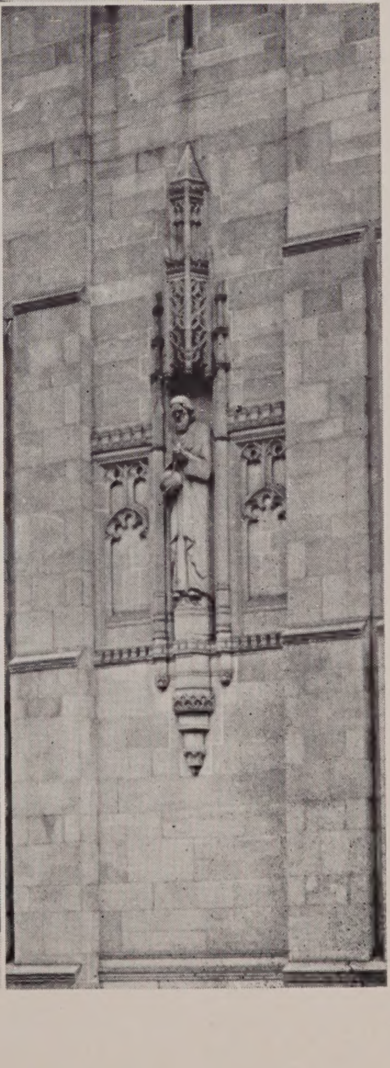
Realism

The cry is PEACE throughout a fearsome world
Where in great armaments now fall to rust
Where late a thousand challenges were hurled
With ancient cities torn and churned to dust
To bury those who spoke of life and love
And dared to look for succor from above

Their dream is cold when every law of life
Makes dying equal to the fact of birth
Come soon or late to enter in the strife
That builds and yet destroys one half the earth
To blink the law may bring about surcease
That men may call by any term—not PEACE.

JOHN E. FULLER





Our Tribute

John J. Riley

Mr. Riley was born April 19, 1885. He was graduated from English High School where he distinguished himself in football and baseball. Strange as it seems to us in 1950, English High had several crews on the Charles River in the early 1900's and was privileged to use The Union Boat Club. Mr. Riley appears in the annals of this high school as a much publicized oarsman in the eight-oar crews. He received medals in this sport awarded by the famous coach, Dick Glennon who later became the coach at West Point.

His interest and ability in the commercial field placed him in the office of Lamont, Corliss and Company where he became manager of their Boston Office. The importance of his position with this firm is recognized by those who recall that the Lamont who headed the firm was the famous Thomas W. Lamont, the great financier of those days. Incidentally, he is remembered in these parts as the donor of the Lamont Library to Harvard University.

World War I found John J. Riley fighting in the ranks of the Twenty-sixth Division in the One Hundred-First Infantry. The next step in the life of this hero shows the spirited courageous man filled with the highest quality of love of his native land; he was commissioned in the field by General Pershing: "Commissioned from the ranks for meritorious service."

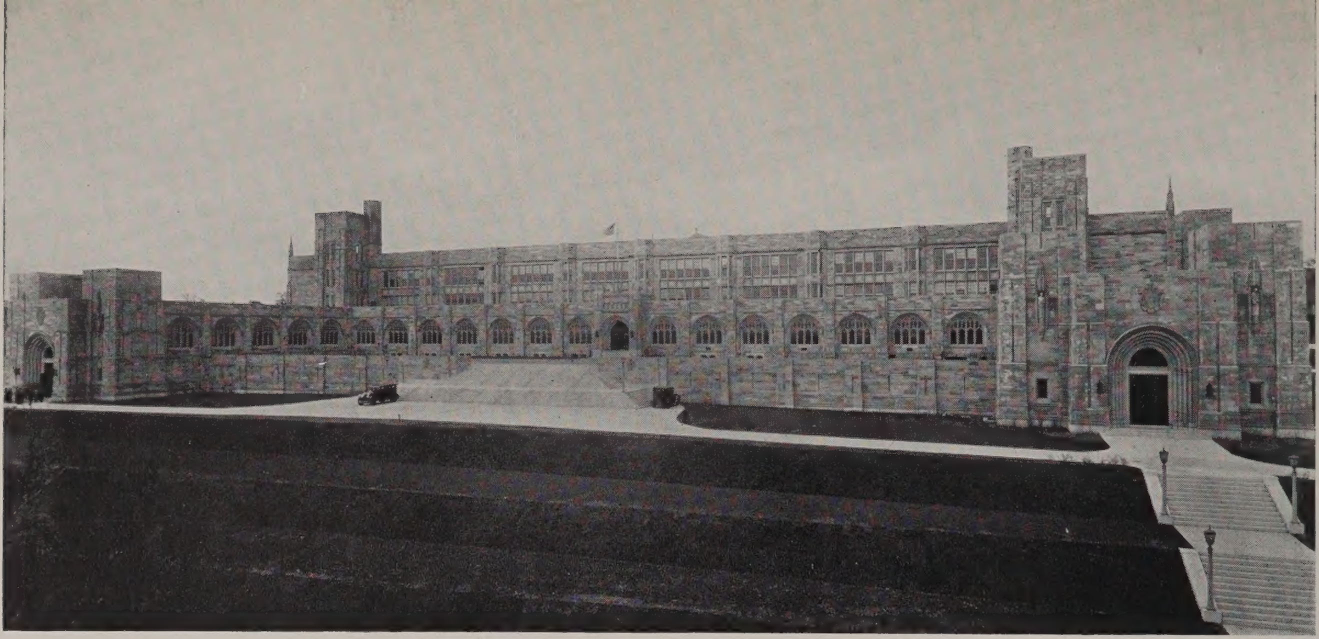
Mr. Riley took active part in the seven major battles of World War I. He received Wound Stripes, was awarded the Purple Heart three times, received the Croix de Guerre from France and the Silver Star—"John J. Riley of the 'Shock Batallion'."

Mr. Riley returned to the United States on a hospital ship, and remained in hospitals for one and a half years. As soon as he was able to walk and move about under his own power, he returned to the National Guard where he rose to the rank of Colonel.

When he left the military hospitals he entered the Boston University School of Business Administration, from which he received his degree in 1924 with highest honors. Not long after, John J. Riley headed the competitive list of commercial teachers for the Public Schools of the City of Boston. His first appointment was with the Commercial Department of his Alma Mater of high school days—English High School; later he came to Brighton High School.

Mr. Riley brought to his classes an indefatigable zeal, an earnest desire to instill into his pupils a thorough knowledge of subject matter. Nor did he stop there; valiantly he strove to prepare his classes for the challenges of adult life. Frank, fearless and outspoken, Mr. Riley will always be remembered by his former colleagues and pupils.

Brighton High School Salutes Colonel John J. Riley!



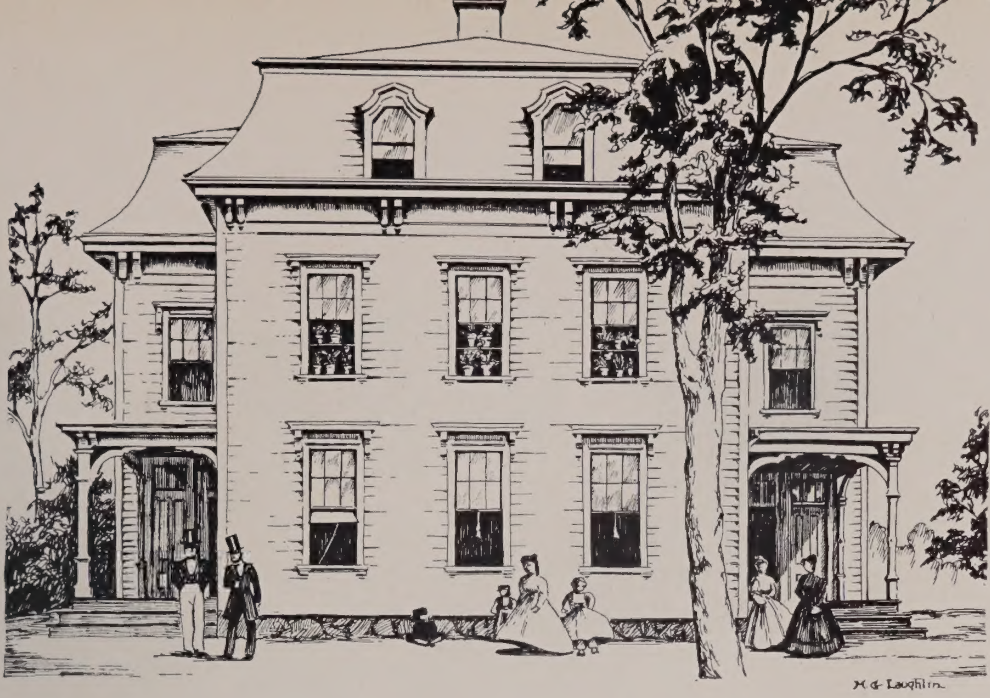
The Present Brighton High School

Looking Back One Hundred Years

We are now living in the year 1950; the year which marks the half way point in the twentieth century. At this period in our history, the so-called "atomic" age, we are inclined to take for granted such things as the machines which perform the many tasks once laboriously done by hand, our many and diversified forms of entertainment and recreation, the sports in which we now take such an avid interest, and the various other things which make life easier and more enjoyable, and yet more complicated than ever before. However, were we to go back one century, to 1850, we would see an astounding difference in all of these things, and in the general mode of living as well. Let us, then, look back one hundred years.

In 1850 the sewing machine, an awkward instrument operated by hand, was but five years old, having been invented by Elias Howe in 1845. Other machines, such as those for reaping, threshing, and pulling stumps, were just being accepted as an improvement over "old-fashioned" methods. The telegraph was still in an experimental stage, although in 1851 a line was extended across the Mississippi. Until this time, no two watches had been made alike. However, in 1850 a company was formed at Roxbury, Massachusetts, which produced interchangeable machine parts for watches. Gail Borden had just, in 1851, patented his new invention for condensing milk by a vacuum. Then, in 1853, the Crystal Palace Exhibition was held in New York. This was the first exhibition of international industry held in the United States, and it did much to speed the coming of an industrial era.

At this period, entertainment and recreation were also far different from what we know today. The showboats cruised the rivers, offering circuses, musicals, and dramas. In rural sections, quilting parties and husking bees were social events of utmost importance; while in New York, the outstanding amusement center was Barnum's American Museum, located at Broadway and Ann Street. In 1850 P. T. Barnum brought to this country Jenny Lind, the famous Swedish Nightingale. An average Sunday afternoon's diversion at this time was a picnic in the park.



The Pioneer Building

Another field in which there have been rapid developments in the last ceutury is that of sports. Were we now to see baseball or football as they were played then, we would barely recognize either.

The origin of our national game goes back to a game called "Rounders," popular during the first half of the last century. This game was not scientifically played and had few rules. In the early 1840's Abner Doubleday drafted the first plans for the modern baseball diamond. Also, he instituted more than a few familiar rules. In 1845 a group of New York gentlemen formed "The Knickerbocker Baseball Club," and although they were not very successful as a team, they established a pattern for similar clubs. They also set a standard in uniforms, with blue trousers, white shirts, and straw hats. Clubs such as these were the "baseball teams" of 1850. With the coming of the "National Association of Baseball Players" in 1858, which established a much needed committee on rules, baseball was officially here to stay. Eleven years later the first professional ball team, "The Cincinnati Red Stockings," was formed and the game has continued to grow in popularity through the years.

The 1850 version of football was once said to make "the same impression on the public eye as a bullfight." This version was played at various colleges by young gentlemen in street clothes, and it was not until the 1860's that rugby, the forerunner of our present day football, was borrowed from English schoolboys. This game became very popular, and in 1874 the first American rugby team was formed at Harvard. Since then, football has been the reigning high school and collegiate sport.

It is obvious from these few examples that great progress has been made during the last hundred years in practically all walks of life. We must consider ourselves fortunate to live in a period when we are able to enjoy so many things which our ancestors, in 1850, never even imagined. Truly, the America of today is far removed from that of 1850, for never before have such progress and so many changes for the better been made in one century.

The President's Message

As we the class of 1950 leave the halls of our unforgetable Alma Mater, and journey into the vast highways of the future, some of us will enter schools of higher learning, while others will find their places in various fields of endeavor. Let us remember that the solid ground beneath the sea of human striving is the intangible quality called "confidence." It is this upon which we must be able to feel our feet firmly planted before any substantial progress can be made.

Regardless of the goals we seek, let us face the world in its marvels and sorrows with true moral courage—one of the most admirable of all human traits—that quality that Americans cherish. Let us follow in the footsteps of democracy, as proud, true Americans.

In leaving our "Castle on the Hill" we give thanks to you, our parents, to our teachers, and to Mr. Leary, our headmaster, for the unfailing and patient help, guidance, and inspiration which have brought us successfully to this happy day.

Class Poem, 1950

The Fulcrum Class

Alice Kathleen Kesner

I
We are the juke-box gang
We are the trombone gang
Jiving together
"Hot-rods" and hearses. Alas!
Our jazzed voices as we chatter together
Are quarrelsome and scratchy
As old pens over paper
Or new chalk on blackboard
In our still classroom

Defeatist forces
Tell us we are lost
Desperate ones, in an age without meaning
A rented age
A filtered age
A final age

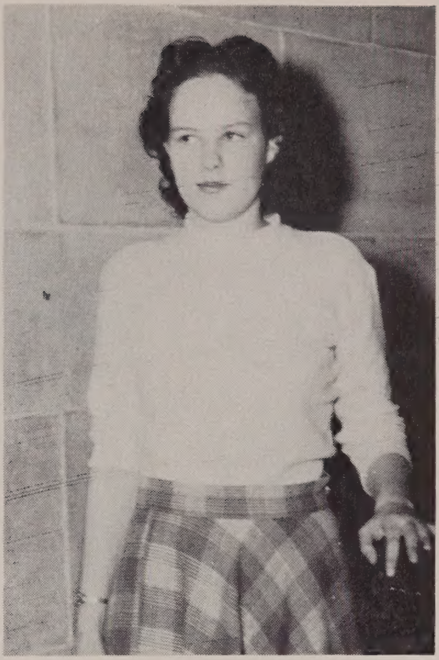
II
Let us dare to face the world
Twentieth century kingdom
Eyes of the past appear
Great eyes
Watching us, marking us
Moses is near, on a high mountain
Watching us, marking us
"Thou shalt not follow a multitude
To do evil."

Jesus is near
Watching us, marking us
"He that seeketh findeth
To him that knocketh
It shall be opened.

Then came our nation
With her great promise
"All men are equal."

Lincoln is near in a field
Watching us, marking us
"This land shall have
A new birth of freedom."

Wilson is near
Watching us, marking us
"Nations shall meet
Standing together
Acting together
With justice for all men."



Roosevelt is near
Watching us, marking us
"The only thing to fear
Is fear itself."

III
This is the free age
This is the fearless age
Greatness before us
Peace to strive for
Time is the balance

This is the golden mean
This is the fulcrum
Fifty behind us
Fifty before us
Time in the balance

IV
We are the class of 1950
Nineteen-fifty, nineteen-fifty
We are the class of 1950
Our future hangs in the balance

Between our future and our fears
Between our laughter and our tears
Comes the challange
Now is the moment!

Between the seed and the flower
Between the childhood and the fruition
Comes the challange
Time has not run out!

This is the way our youth ends
This is the way our youth ends
This is the way our youth ends
Not with a sob, but a promise!

A tribute to T. S. Eliot, whose poem, "The Hollow Men", served as my inspiration.

Dedicated to all of the 1950 graduating classes everywhere!

Activities

Art Club

President	BETTY GREENMAN
Vice-President	TOBY HARRIS
Secretary	GLADYS WINKLER
Treasurer	RHODA ZARROW

The Art Club is one that enjoys a great deal of popularity and a large membership. It is composed not only of girls who are talented in drawing and painting, but of those interested in art as it affects costumes, homes, decorating, and all nature.

The members derived much pleasure from their association with contemporaries with whom they had many interests in common. The fine co-operation from everyone made the many trips to the various places of interest memorable ones.

The Art Club is very appreciative, and much indebted to Miss Glennon, our faculty member, who so generously contributed her time and ability to help make our club so successful.

We sincerely hope that many future students of Brighton High School will carry on the tradition of the Art Club and will gain as much pleasure from this school activity as we, the graduates of 1950, have been privileged to enjoy.

BETTY GREENMAN, President

Glee Club

President	EILEEN GILL
Vice-President	MARY O'BRIEN
Secretary-Treasurer	MIRIAM BROOKS
Librarian	ANNELLEN COMERFORD

The Girls' Glee Club, under the expert direction of Mr. T. Francis Burke, assistant director of Music in the Boston Public Schools, has, as usual, had an especially enjoyable year. This is due not only to the many fine voices in the club, but also to the sincere interest of all the girls.

This year, as in past years, the girls have had an opportunity to render many beautiful songs at school assemblies and at the annual meeting of the Parent Teachers Association. On special occasions an octet and a group of soloists, chosen by Mr. Burke, performed, not only giving pleasure to their listeners, but also enabling the girls to gain the experience of singing in public. Many members of the glee club participated in the annual Talent Show, sponsored by the Student Council. Also, a few of the girls were nominated as candidates for solos in the public school broadcasts.

We sincerely hope that the future Glee Clubs of Brighton High School will have as enthusiastic a group of girls as our present one has.

MIRIAM BROOKS, Secretary-Treasurer

Music Club

President	PEGGY SCHLENER
Vice-President	MARION RIDEMAN
Secretary	DORIS LEBOWICH
Treasurer	SELMA MILLER

The Music Club has had many fine meetings throughout the school year with its members providing the entertainment, both varied and enjoyable. We also studied the lives of the great composers, and listened to the recordings of some of the works which made them famous.

May those who take our places next year have as pleasant a year as we have had.

PEGGY SCHLENER, President

The Dramatic Club

President	ADELE SHINEBERG
Vice-President	MICHAEL AUCIELLO
Secretary	ELAINE CHESSLER
Treasurer	GRACE ALTIERI
Sergeant-at-Arms	JOAN HALEY

The Dramatic Club has been fortunate in including members who were anxious to gain experience as well as those almost in the professional class.

For beginners, the chance to perform before a small and understanding audience of fellow club members, is a fine way of gaining poise and experience. For the professionals was the satisfaction of expression through dialogues, monologues, and skits. To entertain others is to entertain one's self.

In addition to entertainment, our meeting offered instruction in the history of the theatre, the art of make-up, and design.

Activity on the part of every member, entertainment, and instruction have been our aim.

Der Deutsche Verein

Die Beamten fuer das Jahr 1949-1950 sind:

Praesident	ALFRED BROWN
Vizepraesidentin	GENEVIEVE VITELLI
Sekretaerin und Schatzmeisterin	LOIS BROWNE

Der Deutsche Verein genoss ein sehr glueckliches und erfolgreiches Jahr, unter der Leitung unserer deutschen Lehrerin Frl. O'Brien. Unsere Versammlungen waren ein grosses Vergnuegen fuer alle die Teilnehmer. Wir amusierten uns mit kleinen Spielen, Liedern, Schauspielstueckchen, Raetseln, und Unterhaltungen und haben auch dadurch Deutsch gelernt. Dieses Jahr hatten wir die Gelegenheit deutsche Filme anzusehen, die uns die Sprache, Sitten, und Gewohnheiten der deutschen Leute zeigten. Wir wuenschen unseren Nachfolgern alles Gute und hoffen, dass sie ebensoviel Glueck und Freude haben werden, wie wir gehabt haben.

LOIS BROWNE, Sekretaerin

Girls' Sports Club

For the first time in a number of years, the girl's sports which include swimming, bowling, basketball, tennis, golf, field hockey, and other sports were united under the title of Girl's Sports Club.

At the fiirst meeting the girls elected two girls to act as co-heads of the clubs and then elected a captain for each field of sport. Among the first active sports at the beginning of the year were swimming, tennis, softball, field hockey, and bowling. The other games followed as the year progressed.

GRACE ALTIERI, Co-head

The Reading Club

President	MARY CONNOLLY
Vice-President	DOROTHY MYERSON
Secretary	BEVERLY BARNETT
Treasurer	EVELYN HYMERS
Executive Chairman	ROSALIE SILVER

The Reading Club, in which membership is eagerly sought, is composed of senior girls who were honor students in English during their junior year.

Throughout the year on the third Tuesday of each month the meetings were held. Our programs were varied, and included the reading of poems, plays, and short stories. All entertainment was provided by members of the club, and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. Special programs were planned for Thanksgiving, Christmas and other holidays.

On various occasions the Reading Club attended performances of interesting plays and movies, and also enjoyed outings to various spots of renown in Massachusetts.

At the end of the year we entertained the future members of the Reading Club at the traditional Junior Day. A most interesting and enjoyable program was presented, and delicious refreshments were served.

The members of this year's Reading Club wish to extend sincerest appreciation to Miss Bailey and Miss Marshall, whose help and guidance afforded us a most wonderful and memorable year.

MARY CONNOLLY, President

Student Council

President	GRACE ALTIERI
Vice-President	JEAN SWEENEY
Secretary	MICHAEL AUCIELLO
Treasurer	GLORIA HOPKINS

Under the direction of Miss Wilson, the Student Council had a busy and successful year. At the beginning of the year, pins, handbooks, and banners were sold. For the first time the Council bought Brighton High bookcovers which were sold to the pupils. The talent show turned out to be a great success with the help of Mr. Burke and Miss Wilson.

The Council also attended the conventions held througout the year. At these conventions there were meetings, then a luncheon, and last of all a dance in the school's gymnasium.

The members of the Council wish to thank Miss Wilson for the time and energy she contributed in helping them through a very successful year.

GRACE ALTIERI, President

Radio Club

The Radio Club sponsored by Mr. Lewis has set up and operated the first licensed station at B. H. S.

Many of the weekly meetings have been spent on the fundamentals of radio. All have a chance to use specialized equipment such as meters, testing sets, and cathode ray oscilloscope. Much of the equipment has been assembled by the members themselves.

The keen interest displayed by all indicates the success which we of 1950 hope may continue through the coming years.

AHMAD ALI, President

Brighton Towers

Throughout the year the staff of BRIGHTON TOWERS has worked diligently but enthusiastically to produce a magazine of interest to the entire school. In each issue were informative editorials and enjoyable stories, poems and book reviews. Included also were reports on sports events and the diverse activities in the school, such as the Student Council and the guidance department. Besides the literary contributions, we must not forget our capable business managers and efficient advertising department. Our most cordial thanks are extended to our competent faculty advisers for their invaluable assistance. We hope that BRIGHTON TOWERS of 1949-1950 will be pleasurably remembered by everyone.

JANICE KELLERT, Editor-in-Chief

Orchestra

President	William Maloof
Vice-President	Peggy Schlener
Secretary	Marion Rideman
Librarian	Gertrude Sanderson

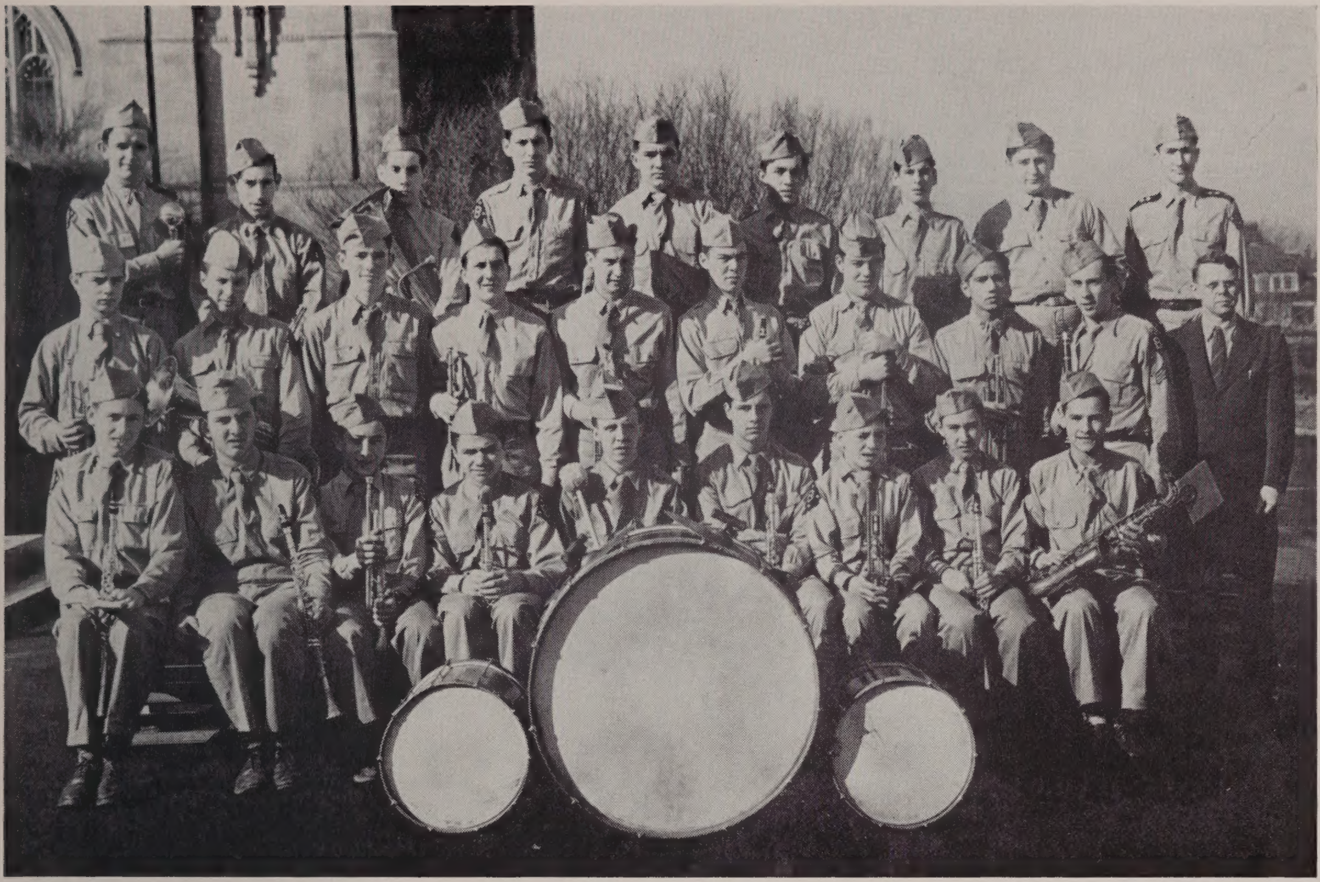
This year the Brighton High School Orchestra was under the direction of Mr. Trongoni, wno enabled us to become one of the best ever organized at Brighton High.

Rehearsing every Thursday, the members practised all the marches in order to have them all perfected for any assembly at which Mr. Leary might ask the orchestra to play.

At rehearsal time, someone walking by the library would wonder if all members were playing the same piece; but with individual attention from Mr. Trongoni, we improved and always performed satisfactorily.

Our large orchestra consisted of six violins, one bass violin, three clarinets, two saxophones, four trumpets, three drums, cymbals, and a piano.

MARION RIDEMAN, Secretary



Band

The goal of this year's band has been to carry on the high standards of previous years, and to become a group that the students of Brighton might be proud of. This group has done this well. The Band has trained diligently to become an asset to Brighton High School and to provide the Cadet Corps with adequate support for the competition that they must face in the school-boy parade. Instructed and disciplined by Mr. Sordillo, Mr. Gardner, Mr. Patch, and Mr. Barrett, and with strong desire to take honors, the boys will enter the school-boy parade fully prepared for the competition they will meet. The standard of the Band this year has been high. The boys hope that future Bands will maintain it well for Brighton.

Under the guidance of Mr. Walker, Mr. Patch, and Mr. Gardner, the Drum Corps has worked hard to develop its group into a well-organized unit. With a new group of sophomores to fill out the ranks, the Corps has done its utmost to bring back honors for Brighton High School. After training strenuously to be fully prepared for the school-boy parade, the Corps hopes to be a unit of which Brighton may be proud.

The Key Club enjoyed its third year of existence under the able and energetic leadership of Miss Sullivan.

Many interesting projects were started with the hope that future clubs will carry on these activities. Among these were: the sending of CARE packages to Europe, the selling of class pictures, and the posting of sports calendar.

It was the privliege for two Key Club members to eat luncheon with the Kiwanis each Tuesday during the school year.

We sincerely hope that next year's club, under the supervision of Mr. Leary, himself a Kiwanian; and the able guidance of Miss Sullivan, will be as successful as we have been and carry on the Motto of the organization "We Build."

Regimental Drill

With Major Sullivan as our able and efficient Drill Instructor, we, the cadets of Brighton High School, will be fully prepared for the stiff competition afforded us at the school-boy parade. After having been trained by a fine staff of capable officers, the cadets feel certain that they will win the honors that they so narrowly missed last year.

Prize drill is being looked forward to with anxious expectancy, for the cadets have trained diligently to honor their own companies. With strict discipline being maintained, and able guidance being given, it is evident that the high standards of Brighton High School wll be held at their peak.

Senior Play

Have you ever been "in a fog?" No? Well you didn't see an important social event for the Class of '50, the Senior Play "Fog Island," a suspense play in three acts. Under the excellent and tireless direction of Mr. and Mrs. Burnham, the cast, after three months of rehearsals, proved themselves more than adequate and went forward to bring another honor to Brighton High with a very successful play.

David Wood, a scientist, was being held prisoner on Fog Island by gangsters, Andrew McKay, Frank Viscarolasaga and Grace Altieri. Drastic measures were about to be used to force knowledge of atomic plans from David until Joseph Higgins, country sheriff, brought five lost young girls, Carol Noyes, Beverly McPhail, Doris Lebowich, Nancy Pettengill, and Janice Blume, and their dramatic teacher, Gloria Shapiro, to that house for shelter from the night. Happenings after that were fast and furious with splashes of comedy; and naturally, romance between Gloria and David.

The play was most successfully aided by the skillful prompter, Selma Miller, the property mistress, Genevieve Vitelli, and the stage manager, Michael Auciello.

April 28 was the night to be so well remembered by both the talented cast, able assistants, and last but not least, the very responsive audience of Fog Island.

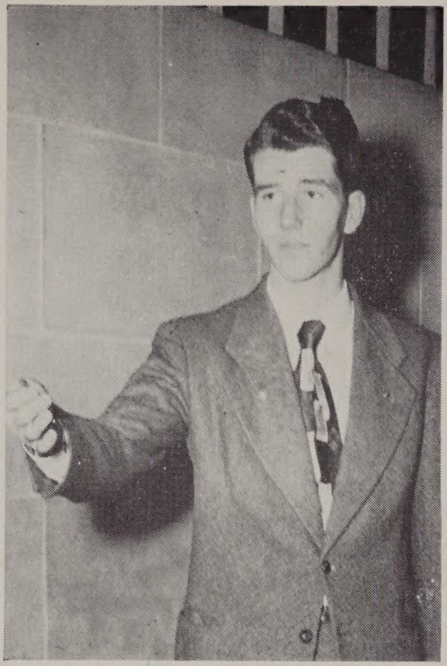
Hail thee ever our dear Brighton.
As we part from you this day,
May your inspiration guide us,
As through life we wend our way.
Ever upward you have lifted,
Every spirit, mind, and heart.
Fare thee well and hail thee ever,
Alma Mater now we part.

Hail thee ever our dear Brighton.
In our hearts we each have saved,
A fond spot where Alma Mater,
Your fair name has been engraved.
Through your efforts we shall prosper,
As we in this new life start.
Fare thee well and hail thee ever,
Alma Mater now we part.



Class Day

Class Day, the most memorable and stirring activity of the year, will always remain secure in our treasure of memories.

The exercises, as usual, were conducted on the terrace, in the auditorium, and in the gymnasium.

TERRACE

Arrayed in white, Miriam Brooks, symbolizing the Spirit of Brighton High School, was seated in the place of honor.

The herald, John F. Connors, stepped forward to deliver the following address:

I. Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Parents and Comrades! We the class of 1950 gladly welcome you on this our festive day. For three years Brighton High School has been our Alma Mater. Now we stand at the open door, ready to leave her sheltering walls for the great adventure of life. Ere we say a courageous "All Hail" to the unknown future, we pause for a sad and grateful farewell to our loved school.

II. Some among us merit special recognition for high scholastic achievement which brings them well deserved awards, and reflects honor on their school.

1. Let the winner of the Anna Judson George Scholarship for excellence in English, receive from the Spirit of her Alma Mater the symbol of her victory.

2. Let the winners of the Brightelmstone Club Scholarships step forward and receive the meed of their intellectual conquest from the Spirit of Brighton High School.

3. Let the Senior and Junior honor students unite in placing the laurels of their attainments at the feet of their Alma Mater.

4. We now bestow praise on a member of the Senior Class, Rosalie B. Silver, who has been conspicuous during the year in promoting the Brighton High School Spirit by her interest in physical education and who has been personable, faithful, honorable, and reliable.

   a. Let Rosalie B. Silver come forward to receive a medal which betokens her accomplishment.

   b. We also commend Edward Freedman a member of the Senior Class, who has distinguished himself by his work in physical education.

   Let Edward Freedman come forward to receive a medal for his accomplishment.

5. To one school we are loyal, and in our loyalty we are united. But we are many members in one body. Our various courses give opportunity for full development of various powers.

a. Let a representative of our Co-operative Course, William Foley, appear to pay homage to our Alma Mater.

b. Let next a member of our Commercial Course, Margaret Dikmak, render grateful acknowledgement to her.

To these two let there be joined one from our College Course, Mary Connolly, that together all three may show honor to Brighton High School and receive medals which shall commemorate their high standing as scholars in whom Alma Mater may justly take pride.

III. Ere we move out into the ranks of the Alumni, we transmit to our successors certain privileges and responsibilities which we have held gladly and faithfully during our senior year. We relinquish these offices to our Junior Comrades with the hope that they may regard them as opportunities for serving the school, and, in filling them, add fresh glories to the name of Brighton High School.

1. Let the President of the Senior Class, Michael Auciello, invest the President of the Junior Class, with the insignia of his office.

2. Let the President of the Student Council, Grace Altieri, transmit to her Junior Officer, the symbol of her authority.

3. Let the Editor of the Towers, Janice Kellert, pass on to her successor the token of her high office.

IV. Now let the Chief Marshal, Nancy Pettengill, escort into the presence of the Spirit, our Head Master, Joseph A. Leary, that he may receive from the Co-Editors of the Gothic, Rosalie B. Silver and David E. Wood, a perpetual memorial—the gift of our year book.

V. Let the Seniors now transmit to the Juniors the guardianship of the National Colors.

VI. Let the Seniors now march forth to plant the Tree which, like their hearts, will cling to the turrets of their Alma Mater. It will become an ever-glorious and living symbol of the enduring loyalty of Brighton High School.

VII. Let the Class Marshals under the leadership of the Chief Marshal, Nancy Pettengill, step forward to conduct the Class of 1950 into the Auditorium for the final exercises of this memorable Class Day.

Class Oration

Mr. Leary, Members of the Faculty, Guests and Fellow Students:

It is difficult to believe that after three wonderful years here, at Brighton High School, we have arrived at one of our crossroads in life, and that we, present at these Class Day Exercises are no longer under the careful supervision and guidance of our teachers, but must of necessity venture out into the complex life of a modern world. No longer shall we be able to lead the carefree and untroubled life to which we have so long been accustomed.

This is a world of great opportunities, wide vistas and unlimited horizons, which are open to all.

While in school, we have fought against odds in the field of sports, as well as in classroom competition. It is necessary that we do the same when we venture out into this world. For today we are living in a world filled with a multiplicity of complex and imminent problems. At every turn we are pressed by issues which seem insoluble. We have difficulty in separating truth from lies. The art of propaganda and demogoguery persuades many to do what their common sense tells them not to believe. Moreover, science has built a Frankenstein in the form of an automic, and more recently a hydrogen, bomb, which one day may cause the destruction of our civilization. The older we get and the more our fears and doubts increase, the more we want to surround ourselves with weapons for protection.

Youth has open, clear minds and a fresh approach to problems; therefore, I say to you, fellow students of Brighton High School, go forth and join all youth to try to help solve the problems of an ill and upset world. For the problems that seem most complex may often times be solved by simple approach.

The words "Thou Shalt Not Kill", brought down 3500 years ago from Mt. Sinai, and 1900 years ago spread over the length and breadth of the civilized world are still the simple solution for one of mankind's major ills. This, and the spirit of tolerance to all races and creeds must be man's yardstick in his upward jonrney toward a better life.

We, the youth of America, must be the hope and salvation of the world and help to lead it into more peaceful and fruitful conditions for ourselves and our posterity. Let us not be afraid to venture forth. Our forefathers fought against much greater odds and hazards than we are encountering today. Let us show them that we have the same spirit, and with our increasing sources of knowledge we can perhaps overcome some of the many problems our elders have wrestled with so valiantly. The tasks are many, the road is rocky, but the goal is nearer than we may think.

It is indeed with heavy hearts that we close our desks for the last time, and gaze longingly on the many familiar objects which has made our daily school life so complete and satisfying. This nostalgic feeling, which is difficult to express in words has been brought to a climax today.

I know that I speak for all my fellow students who treasure and remember each little incident of friendly companionship and help which we have extended to one another.

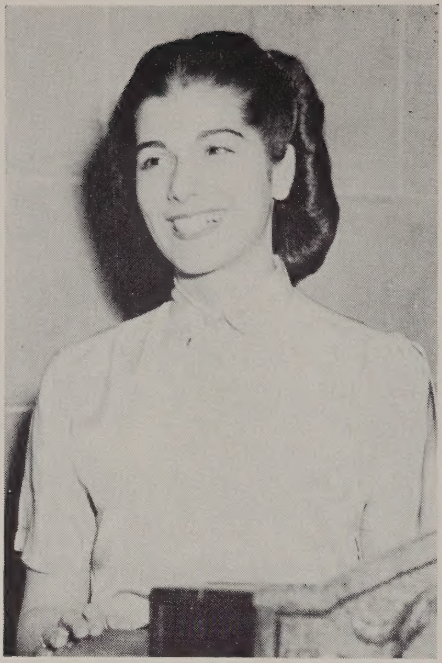
To our patient teachers who have so carefully and kindly directed us, and inspired within us the confidence so necessary in acquiring the knowledge and background for the struggles of the years ahead, we are greatly indebted.

To our dear parents and friends who have helped protect us against the buffeting and heartaches of a harsh outside world, we extend our sincere gratitude.

It is with these thoughts in mind, at this proud moment, but with a chokey feeling in our throats, that we say farewell to you, dear Brighton High, and in the coming years we shall remember the unforgettable memories which you have woven around us.

We take our leave of you now, but shall carry with us the memory of you as part of our fleeting, but happy youth. The spirit and thought of your countless honored graduates who have left their marks in your hallowed halls, join us in wishing you, God speed!

Carol Goldmeer



Class History

Three long, long years ago, a group of apprehensive, woe-begone individuals ascended the hill leading to the Brighton High School. From a group of timid, trusting souls those humble sophomores have developed into haughty seniors who have strutted the corridors all year, and who are now seated before you.

But those intervening years have not all passed by smoothly, but have been crowded with joy and sorrow, success and failure.

On that memorable occasion, our first day in "The Castle on the Hill" our rosy dreams of high school life were shattered. For we were lost, unable even to find our homerooms, and we were bewildered, baffled by the maze of up and down stairways, and by the antics of the juniors and seniors who directed us to a gym on the third floor, or who informed us that we could attend either first or second lunch, according to our preference. But we were soon rescued from our confusion and bewilderment when, to the dismay of our mischievous upperclassmen, the Student Council issued Sophomore Handbooks which clearly explained to us the rules of the school.

As we became less timid and more confident, we began to look about us and soon discovered many interesting school affiliated clubs and activities. In that year a Key Club was formed for the boys who were to be junior members of the Kiwanis Club.

During the year we had many interesting assemblies, but the two most prominent were those at which appeared Denny Myers of Boston College, who spoke congratulating us for having won the District Championship, and THE Vaughan Monroe, who thrilled all his fans with both his orchestral and vocal arrangements.

Even then our class was rich in excellent athletes. That year Ed Freedman, Charles Stamos, and Mike Auciello gained fame on the cinder track; Dick Bentfield rapidly developed into a top-notch baseball player, while our versatile athletes, Bob Murphy and Red McGrath, starred in both football and track.

After being initiated into the whirlwind of high school life and striving to obtain good scholastic records, we, "almost juniors", were glad when the summer vacation finally rolled around, giving us an opportunity for recreation and the gathering of new energy for next year.

Returning (ahem) eagerly to the stimulating action of school life after a monotonous summer of lolling on the beaches, we walked with a slight swagger, for we were juniors.

Before the poor, innocent sophomores could obtain the council handbooks, we had a delightful time making their first few days really confusing.

Our new superiority was short lived, however, for there were so many faculty changes that we were just as bewildered as the sophomores. Miss E. Theodate Burpee, who had been in the commercial department since 1916, and Miss Gertrude E. Poor, who, since 1913, had taught first, physical education, and then health, both retired. Mr. Butler left to become head of the English department at Practical Arts High School; Mr. Maloney resigned to work for the Municipal Research Bureau. Miss Rhodes and Mr. O'Keefe from Hyde Park and Commerce high schools respectively were warmly welcomed into the faculty. Mrs. Flynn, our gym teacher, replaced Miss Poor as our health instructor, while her former position was competently filled by Miss Blagdon.

For weeks before the junior class elections the school was in a turmoil, but after much deliberation the following were chosen as officers: Nancy Pettengill, President; Patricia McCrane, Vice-President; Jeanette Volante, Secretary; and Richard Nilson, Treasurer.

On December fourth two hundred Student Councillors from different sections of the state were entertained at Brighton High School. In the morning the program consisted of registration, an address of welcome, discussions in the various classrooms, and a banquet in the cafeteria. After luncheon the members reconvened in the auditorium and were addressed by Dean Judson Butler of Boston University. After entertainment by several Brighton High School pupils, the day was completed with a dance in the gym. The praise received by our council members that day was certainly well-earned.

When the long awaited vacation arrived, we greeted it eagerly, for this summer we not only had to gather strength, but also had to gather funds for our senior year expenses which, as we surmised from the empty pockets of the outgoing seniors, were terrific!

Returning in September we really swaggered, for after eleven years of endeavor we had finally reached the heights, and were now those awesome, wondrous beings—SENIORS!

Again this year there were many changes in the faculty. Mr. Walsh left to attend advanced courses at Harvard. Miss Fielding went to Hyde Park High School, Mr. McNamara and Mr. Hechinger were at Lynn School, and Mr. Riley had retired.

For the second time in the school's history the students elected the cheerleaders, and the following were chosen: Alice Donisi, Katherine Fondas, Joan Haley, Marguerite Moore, Carol Noyes, Nancy Pettengill, Eleanor Reardon, June Rose, Jean Sampson (captain), and Jeanette Volante. Ample inspiration for any team!

All year our sports stars positively scintillated. The football team played its games at the newly erected George White Stadium. As during any football season, there were some injuries, but the most visible were those suffered by our intrepid trio, Murphy, Dunn, and Viscarolasaga, who earned themselves the title of "the three noses." George Noonan, star end and pass receiver, was chosen to represent Brighton at the All-Star game, while Jean Sampson and Alice Donisi were selected to help cheer the Boston All-Stars. But our representatives were not given an opportunity to display their abilities, for the All-Star game was indefinitely postponed because of inclement weather. While Ed Dombrauskus really "made an impression" on the opposing line, Bob Murphy and Jimmy Dunn did some speedy running on the gridiron. Auciello, Potter, McGrath, and the sensational miler, Wally Eaton, really burned up the cinder track for the orange and black, while Paul O'Brien, John Connors, and Alibrandi were consistently high scorers in basketball game after basketball game.

As always, we had many interesting assemblies ranging from football and baseball to science and Symphony. As our sports visitors we had Mel Parnell and Earl Johnson of the Red Sox and Buff Donelli of Boston University. Exhibiting the strides already made in the scientific field and outlining future possibilities, representatives from General Motors presented us with an engrossing, informative demonstration. For the second consecutive year we were also fortunate enough to hear the Symphony orchestra in the Brighton High School auditorium.

There was much activity in our Student Council with the annual talent show representation at council conventions, the sale of Brighton High School book covers, the records and suggestion box in the lunchroom, and the presentation of the schools preferences in music on Bob Clayton's Boston Ballroom.

Under the efficient guidance of Miss Wilson, the hardworking officers who made these and other projects possible were Grace Altieri, President; Jean Sweeney, Vice-President; Michael Auciello, Secretary; and Grace Hopkins, Treasurer.

The Key Club regularly sent CARE packages abroad, while here in school they distributed sport schedules to the students and exhibited photographs of the pupils of the sophomore and junior homerooms.

For the first time the many branches of the girls' sports activities were consolidated into the Sports Club, co-heads of which were Mary Lou O'Brien and Grace Altieri.

Hark! What were those strange figures? Nothing to be alarmed at, not men from Mars, not walking billboards, merely sign-bedecked Seniors campaigning for their favorite candidates in preparation for the senior class elections! After days of hearing campaign jingles and being exposed to the eloquent oratory of the aspiring candidates, we finally elected the following: President, Michael Auciello; Vice-President, Efrain Viscarolasaga; Secretary, Rosemarie Gersomini; Treasurer, Leonard Nuciforo; Orator, Carol Goldmeer; Historian, Grace Altieri; Executive Committee, Charles Clayman, Janice Blume, Eleanor Reardon, Alice Donisi; Marshals, Nancy Pettengill, Katherine Fondas, June Rose, Carol Noyes, Ruth Butera, John McGrath, Andrew McKay, Robert Wolf, and Jeanette Volante.

Not only were we outstanding athletically and scholastically, but the skill of our class in the entertainment field was not to be passed over lightly, as was manifested by the Talent Show and the senior play FOG ISLAND which was under the expert direction of Mrs. Burnham.

Among the laurels won by the members of this outstanding senior class, one of the most illustrious achievements was that of Alice Kesner who won both local and state contests sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce with her essay on Democracy.

This year John McGrath and Leonard Nuciforo were elected to act as representatives from Brighton High School on Student Government Day, while Efrain Viscarolasaga was elected Senator.

But we seniors reached the climax of our social life at the Senior Prom held at the Hotel Bradford. It was difficult to imagine those suave, sophisticated young men and women as our mischievous fellow classmates.

After presenting to you the glorious history of our class of '50, I wish to say, in behalf of my fellow students, that we shall always remember Brighton High School, its esteemed headmaster, its excellent teachers, and that we shall always be loyal to the principles instilled in us by them.

The Brighton High School Patrol

Twelve years ago, our headmaster, Mr. Joseph A. Leary, who was then head of the Mathematics Department, started the Brighton High School Patrol.

Since then Mr. Dowell and Mr. Fickett have been in charge. Under their watchful eyes the Brighton High School Patrol has maintained a clean slate of discipline.

To be a member of the Patrol you have to be a senior in good standing. Your duties are to make lunchroom conditions as agreeable as possible. While letting the pupils enjoy themselves, you must remember to warn them to have consideration for others.

As the year comes to an end, I feel that it is fitting for me to pay tribute to the members of 110A annd 110B for their excellent discharge of duties, and to Mr. Dowell and Mr. Fickett who taught us leadership and discipline.

The Brighton High School Patrol sincerely hopes that in years to come all Patrols will maintain the high standards that the 1950 Patrol has established.

Senior Promenade

The important night had arrived. Finally the event that the senior class had so impatiently awaited, became a reality. It was on this night, Friday, May nineteenth, that the graduating class of 1950 held its annual promenade.

Seniors, juniors, and alumni arrived at the Hotel Bradford ballroom which was beautifully decorated with the Brighton banner and Brighton colors. They danced to the soft melodious arrangements of Chappie Arnold's ten-piece orchestra. By the way, Chappie is a graduate of our school. There was competition for all in the playing of such novelties as the Balloon Dance and the Elimination Waltz. Compacts were given to those fortunate girls, who won, and cigarette lighters to the boys who, carried off the honors.

Our headmaster, Joseph A. Leary led the grand march, followed by the Senior Class President, Michael Auciello and his lovely partner, Grace Altieri. As we danced to the farewell waltz, dedicated to the Class of 1950, the seniors realized that the curtain was slowly descending on the final chapter of their high school life.

The Senior Class expressed a sincere "thank you" to the Executive Committee: Janice Blume, Alice Donisi, Eleanor Reardon and Charles Clayman, for their making our Promenade a complete success! The Executive Committee would like to express its heartfelt gratitude to Mr. Fuller, our faculty adviser, for his great interest in our behalf.

Cheerleaders

Leading the cheers that spurred the 1950 football team to many victories were Joan Haley, Nancy Pettengill, June Rose, Alice Donisi, Jeanette Volante, Eleanor Reardon, Carol Noyes, Marguerite Moore, Kay Foundas, Kay Lynch, and Jean Sampson.

After much enthusiastic practice, the cheerleaders were ready to put on their traditional orange and black to open the football season.

Just before the "Southie" game, the cheerleaders put on a lively rally in the auditorium.

Each game, no matter what the weather, found these eleven charming girls clad in orange and black, loyally urging the crowd to cheer for their outstanding team. Hard work and constant practice made this year's group one of the outstanding cheerleading teams in the city.

To these girls the school offers much praise and many thanks for such conscientious work.

JEAN SAMPSON, Captain

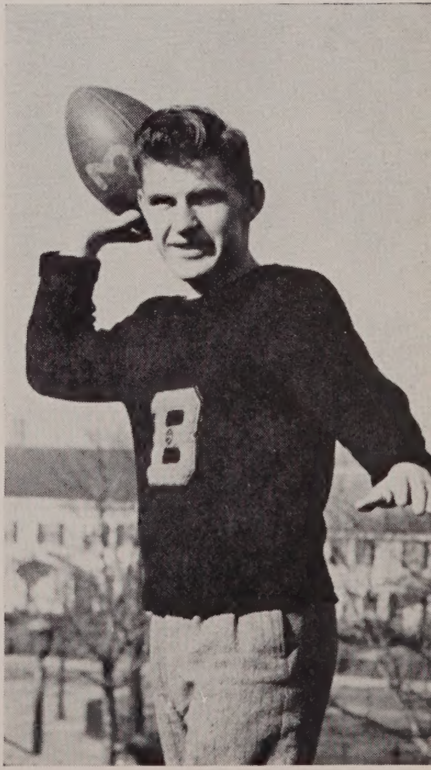
Football

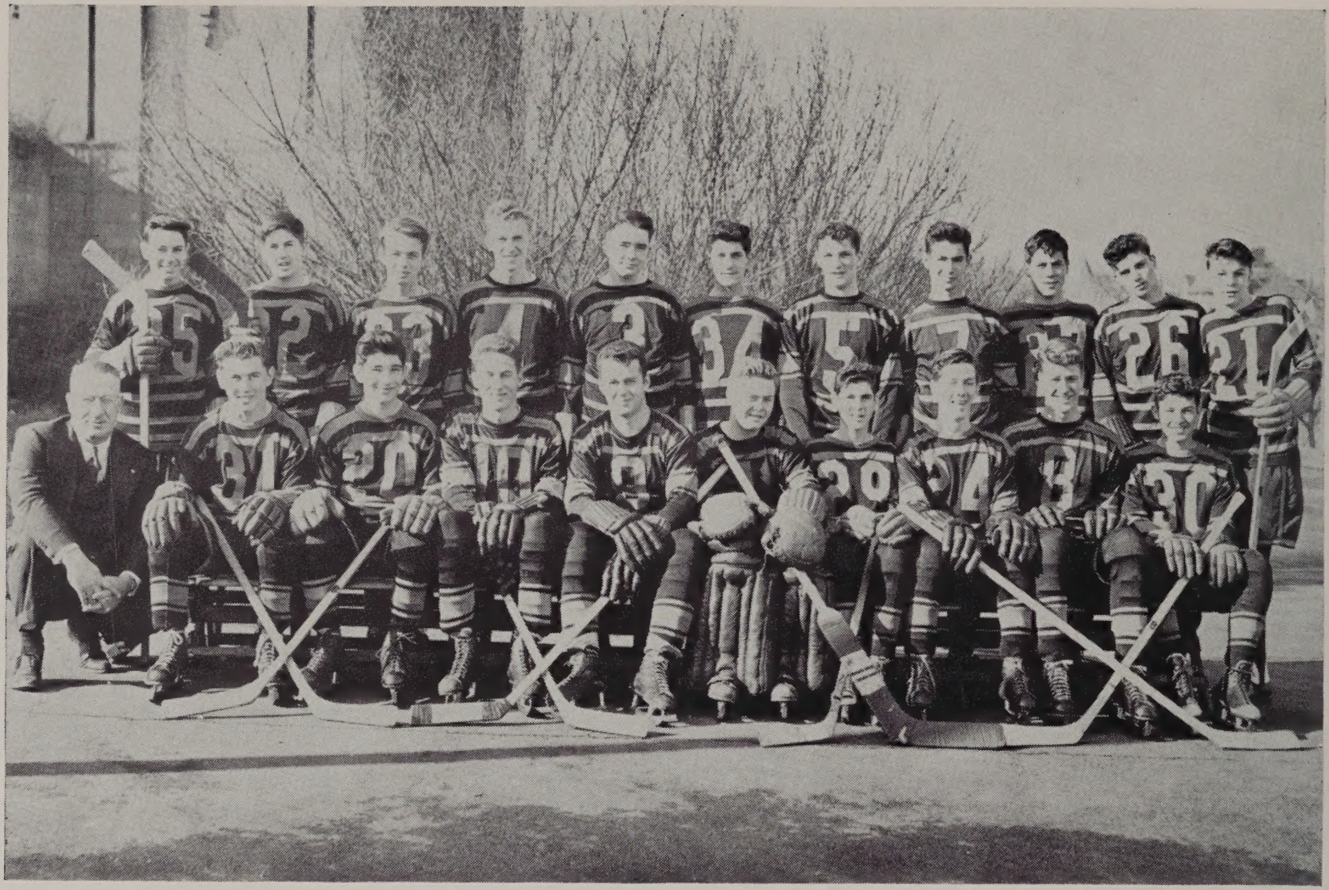
With many of last years lettermen returning to duty, and an eager group of under-classmen, the boys showed signs of becoming a good team. Some of them were: Murphy, Bentfield, Noonan, Dombrauskas, and Dunn. McGrath was unable to play, due to a broken ankle incurred in a practice game, and the team felt his absence throughout the season.

With the great passing of Dick Bentfield, the pass receiving of George Noonan, and the terrific running of Jimmy Dunn and Bob Murphy, the squad dashed through the season with only a few setbacks.

Coach Murphy trained the boys well, and disciplined them hard, with the result that they were a team that will long be remembered as one of Brighton's best.

JAMES DUNN





Hockey

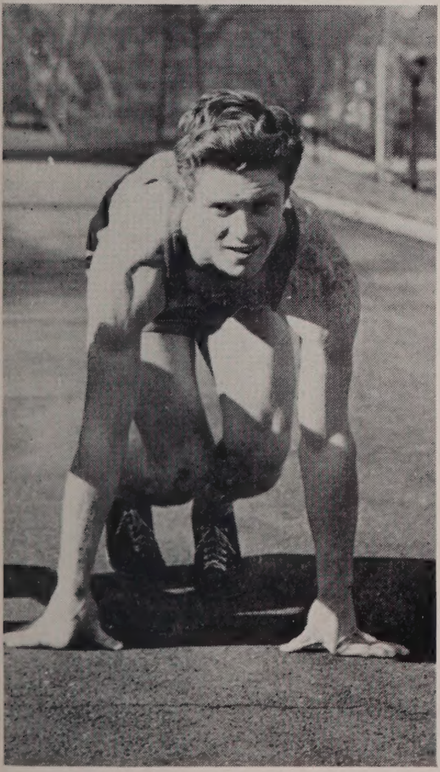
Coached and trained by the able Mr. Burnham, the squad developed quickly into a well-organized and smooth-working team. With several lettermen from last years team the squad offered stiff opposition to all opponents.

The spirit of the team was good at all times, and the boys co-operated well to make the season a successful one.

Among the seniors who sparked the team into action, Bentfield, Murphy, Pellegrini, MacKay, Najarian, and Captain Mark Green were outstanding.

The squad tried hard to uphold the fine tradition of previous teams and it hopes that the future teams will do the same.

MARK GREEN



Track

The 1950 track team was built up on last years returning lettermen who were, Red McGrath, Wally Eaton, Joe Pitts, Floyd Holford, Ed Freedman, Bob Murphy, Cyril Potter, Eddie Dombrouskas, and Mike Auciello.

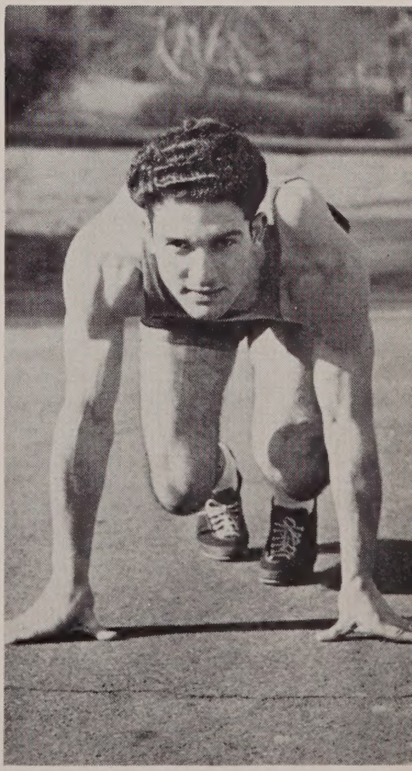
The team as a whole went into every track meet, well organized, determined, and fighting.

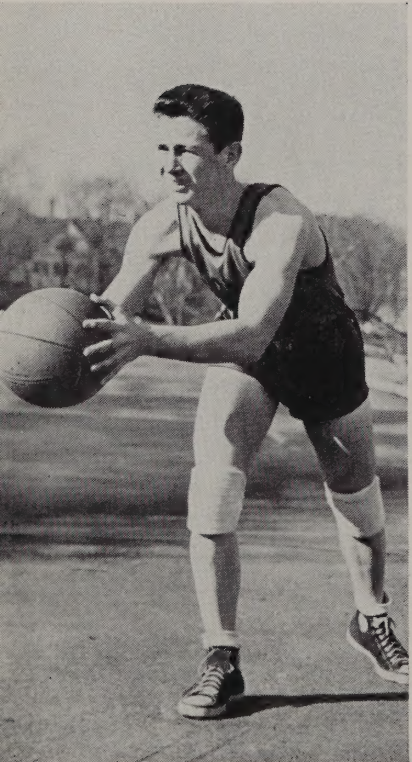
This group of so-called "Brighton Jets" were rated as one of the top-notch teams in the city.

Three cheers for Coach Murphy whose able guidance was highly esteemed by the whole squad.

Here's wishing the best of luck, and success to Brighton track future teams and hoping that they will uphold the high standards of this 1950 track team.

CO-CAPTAINS: MICHAEL AUCIELLO
JOHN McGRATH





Basketball

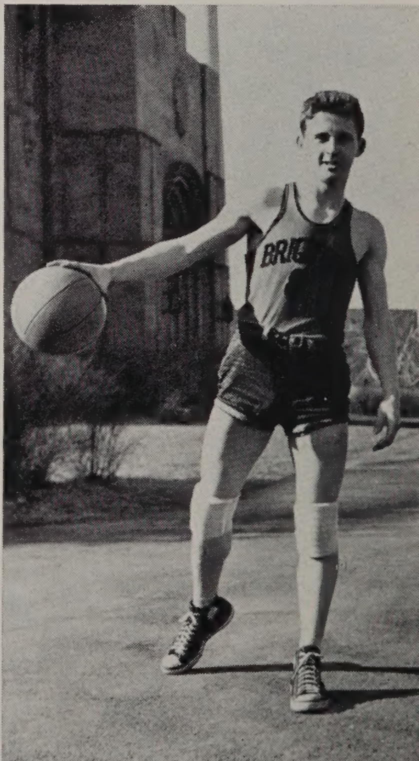
In contrast to former years, the Brighton High School basketball team, with many such veterans as Richard Kingston, John Connors, Charles Clayman, and Joe Alabrandini, was a well seasoned team which, with the help of several juniors and a few enthusiastic sophomores, had an excellent season.

Coach Fuller predicted that the 1950 team would be better than any former team that he had coached here at Brighton High School.

This year, practice was called early in November in order to form the team into a well-balanced unit long before the first game.

We had high hopes that during the season we would be able to compile an enviable record to add to the laurels of Brighton High School.

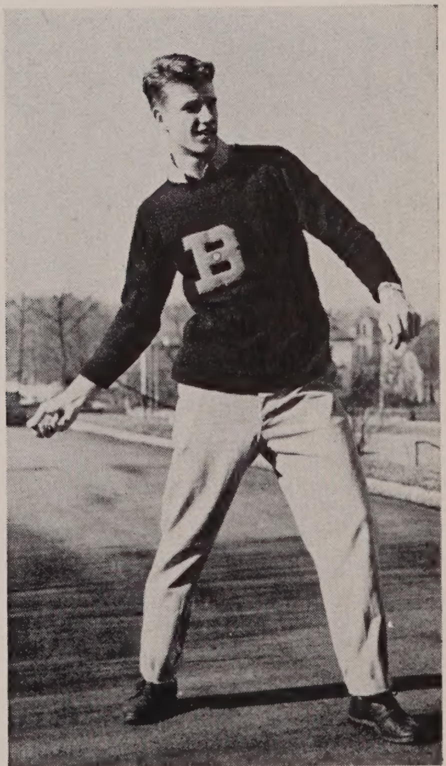
CO-CAPTAINS: PAUL MURPHY
PAUL O'BRIEN



Baseball

Using many of last year's lettermen, Coach Murphy has developed another terrific team to leave its record at Brighton. With such diamond aces as Mike Auciello, Dick Bentfield, and Bob Murphy, the team offered stiff opposition to every school it faced throughout the season. With the enthusiasm and determination of the squad, plus the able leadership of Coach Murphy, the team went into every contest well prepared and willing to do its best. The boys of the squad hope that the honors claimed by them this year, may be claimed again by next year's team.

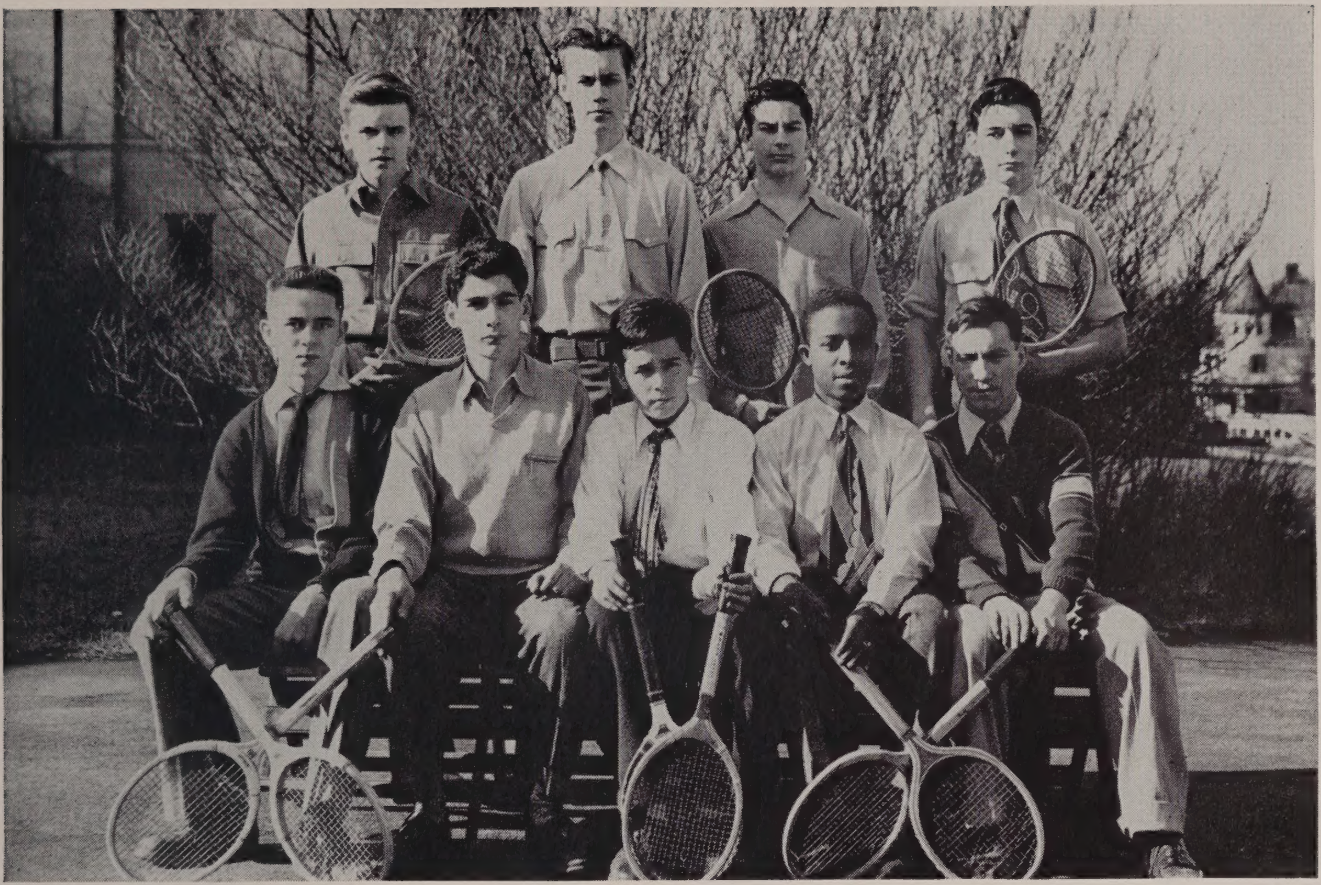
CAPTAIN: RICHARD BENTFIELD



Golf

Although golf is a comparatively recent addition to the sports here at Brighton High School, a good team was established this year. Due to inexperience the team gained but little recognition in the tournaments. However, under the able direction of Mr. MacKenzie, the boys tried hard, and from all appearances it is evident that golf will become another outlet through which the students may honor Brighton High School.

ALAN SPARKS



Tennis Club

We were fortunate this year in retaining two players from last year's team, Alvin Williams and Donald DeLacey.

To back these veterans are many outstanding players such as: Dave LaMarchia, Dick Roth, Paul Timmins, and William Kettels.

Under the able guidance of our coach, Mr. Romano, we, the members of the B. H. S. tennis team of 1950, hope to repeat last year's feat of winning the district championship and hope that the future tennis teams of B. H. S. will bring well-earned honor and glory to our school.

ROBERT SILVA, Player, Mgr.

Girls' Basketball

In the middle of November, the girls who were interested in basketball met Miss Blagdon in the girls' gymnasium, and the basketball team was formed. Every Monday after school the girls practiced the fundamentals of the game, and in this way greatly improved their playing ability. When the girls had learned the skills and acquired a general knowledge of the game, teams were formed and competition began.

We, the members of this year's basketball team, hope that all future teams will find as much enjoyment as we have in participating in this wonderful sport.

JOAN LALIME

Girls' Softball

In the spring, the girls interested in softball met in the gymnasium to organize a team. At Rogers Park, where the softball games were held, the girls played enthusiastically and therefore always enjoyed the activity.

It is the unanimous hope of all members that the future teams will benefit as much from this sport as we have.

MARY CONNOLLY

The Badminton Club

The Girls' Badminton Team has met every week throughout the year in the gymnasium to participate in an afternoon of sport and recreation. The girls have derived a great deal of pleasure from this active sport, and they wish the teams of future years equal success.

EVELYN HYMERS

Girls' Tennis

With many enthusiastic girls participating, the girls' tennis team was able to have a very enjoyable and beneficial year.

Before going to Roger's Park to do any actual playing of the game, the girls diligently practiced the skills of tennis in the school gymnasium in order to become more adept at the sport.

All the members of the team feel that they have greatly profited from the wonderful instruction afforded them, and they hope that the members of future teams will benefit as much from participation in this enjoyable activity.

MARY CONNOLLY

Girls' Bowling

This past year has been a most successful one for the Girls' Bowling Club. A large and enthusiastic group of girls has met each Tuesday throughout the year to enjoy an afternoon of recreation and sport. By bowling regularly, the girls feel that they have greatly increased their skill and proficiency in this sport, and they are looking forward to the tournaments at the end of the year. We are sure that, in the future, the Bowling Club will continue to be one of the most successful and enjoyed in Brighton High.

EVELYN HYMERS

Girls' Golf

The Girls' Golf Club has met frequently through the spring months at the Franklin Park Golf Course. Here the members have received invaluable instruction from a most capable professional player. The girls hope that the golf clubs of future years have as much success as did the one of 1950.

EVELYN HYMERS

Girls' Swimming

Every Wednesday at two o'clock a group of girls leave Brighton High School bound for the Y.W.C.A. When we first started going to the "Y", we were tested to determine whether we should be placed in the beginners, intermediate, or advanced group. We swim from three o'clock to four o'clock. From three to three forty-five, we have swimming instruction, and then we may use the remaining time for recreation.

As we have had a great deal of enjoyment throughout the year, we hope that members of the future swimming clubs will receive as much pleasure from their participation in this healthful activity.
